 July, 2021; Message from the CEO of Papereed, Ola Andersson *****

The audio service has closed!

Unfortunately we did not have the financial capacity to keep the service up and running any longer.

A big thanks to everyone that has listen to our articles, to our narrators for their excellent job and to all publishers contributing with content.

We still have our content library of hundreds of audio articles in different categories and the service is easy to start up again, in any form, if anyone is interested in helping out...

2010 - 2010 (less than a year)

Grotesco, Season 2, is a Swedish Humor TV-series, featuring the Swedish Humor Elite. This episode portrayed a party for a 50 year old woman. It soon went astray and later on I played a drunk drummer (using the cover band's drum set), with comical timing. It was a six day shoot.

Stockholm-Köpenhamn Produktion AB (STO-CPH)

less than a year

Anger Management (Pilot Episode), Angry Man

2010 - 2010 (less than a year)

This was done live among "civilians", filmed with a hidden camera and microphone. I made two scenes where I played a VERY angry man, because very trivial things: A man passed me in the bus line; a woman didn't use a leash for her dog. This was 100% improvised. It was a one day shoot.

Håkan Tingvall (Expert Trial Lawyer) / Actor (Male lead)
2010 - 2010 (less than a year)

When the Swedish criminal program "The Crime of The Week" (Veckans Brott), with the famous criminologist and professor Leif GW Persson as the expert in the program, STO-CPH made a rigorous program leader test, searching for the right person to flank the professor.

Me, as Håkan Tingvall, an Expert Trial Lawyer and two other people, were hired to act as people the future to be program leader should perform a short (approx 8-10 minutes) interview with, as an intro to the program. We made ten of those tests with ten different persons. The person that won (after a second try out round, that I was no part of) and now is the female program leader was Camilla Kvartoft.

These tests were all improvised (all we knew was what standpoint we should argue for) and they were very demanding, but very fun and fulfilling to do.
